

alphasprite

PRESS RELEASE
12th May, 2010

AlphaSprite announce “Ducked Up!” Action puzzler coming to iPhone, iPad & iPod Touch 15th May 2010

New Zealand – May 12, 2010 – AlphaSprite today announced that the action packed, physics based puzzle game will be available on the iPhone, iPad and iPod Touch Apple devices from the 15th May 2010.

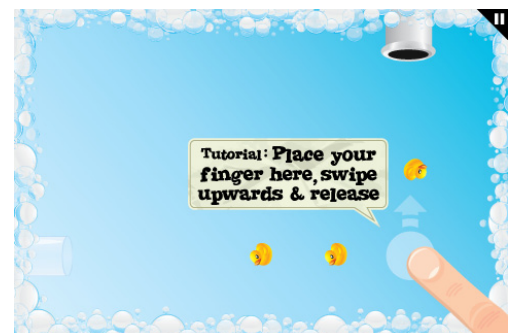

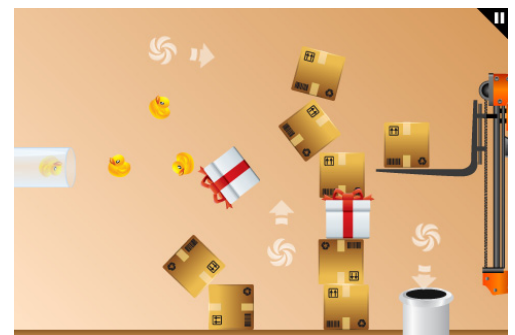

Ducked Up! is a fun, frantic and unique game that will appeal to all ages and skill levels. It will be available on the iTunes App Store at a retail price of .99 cents (US) and here in New Zealand for $1.29.

About Ducked Up!

Get ready for some yellow rubber madness. Ducked Up! is a challenging and addictive physics based action-puzzle game where you must combine quick reflexes and brain power to guide your duckies home safely. Tap and swipe to create air flows or use a gravity defying vortex to navigate your ducks past deadly obstacles and wacky scenarios. Easy to pick up and play but with waves of challenges and bonus levels that will keep you coming back for more – Ducked Up! will keep you grinning all the way to the rubbery toy paradise at the end.

About AlphaSprite

AlphaSprite was formed by two individuals with the goal of making unique and rewarding iPhone gaming experiences. Although we aren't a huge company, we know what we like. Because of this, AlphaSprite is determined to develop and publish a slowly growing collection of exciting, accessible and above all, fun games to the mobile device market.

For further information and assets please visit: www.alphasprite.com